

LITERARY NOTES.

Mr. Charles Carleton Collier has been writing a pictorial history of colonial life in America, which Harper & Brothers have in press. "Old Times in the Colonies" will be the title.

At the close of the week Houghton, Mifflin & Co. will publish the dramatic poems of Bayard Taylor in a volume uniform with the "Keeler" edition of "Taylor's Poems." The book will include "The Prophet," "The Masque of the Gods," and "Prince Domini."

Mrs. Fleming's last novel, "Lost for a Woman," has been published three weeks, in which time it has been twice out of print, and nearly 10,000 copies have been sold. The author died in June last and left several unpublished works, which G. W. Carleton & Co. intend to issue from time to time.

"The Boy's King Arthur," by Sidney Lanier (Charles Scribner's Sons) is a campaign volume to "The Boy's Roosevelt," and contains twelve spirited pictures by Alfred Rappé. It is the old boy's Thomas Malory, uncorrected except in a few places where it would be misleading, with original notes. Mr. Lanier has written an introduction to the Mawry text.
